

When you notice an unsafe act, what stops you intervening?

Event details

Event name:	When you notice an unsafe act, what stops you intervening?
Location:	161 Springfield Road, Aberdeen. AB15 7AQ
Date/Time:	18/09/2010 09:15:00
End Date/Time:	18/09/2010 14:00:00 (with buffet lunch)
Organized by:	North of Scotland Branch
Event type:	Branch Meeting

Overview

This is a FREE workshop event open to IOSH and non-IOSH members. It will be delivered by Forum Interactive in association with IOSH North of Scotland Branch.

Building and sustaining a safety culture depends on employees feeling confident and able to prioritize health and safety through their own actions.

Places are limited to 40.

What's in it for YOU?

This interactive, experiential workshop will introduce you to methods that address this gap. It will explore:

- what safety leadership looks and feels like in practice
- how culture impacts on risk taking behaviour
- how meaningful discussion about health and safety can be encouraged
- how the relevant people skills can be developed.

You will share knowledge and practice with health and safety colleagues and directly experience the value of drama based approaches.

What you need to know

For further information please contact the Branch Vice-Chair Robert Eaton (Robert.Eaton@nov.com) or by phone on 07850 602687.

Or Leslie Scorgie (lscorgie@safety-assoc.co.uk) or by telephone on 07778 934 803